With Rubis Energy Jamaica

2020

IN 2020, RUBIS MÉCÉNAT CELEBRATES THE 5TH ANNIVERSARY OF ITS ONGOING PROGRAMME INPULSE, UNDERTAKEN IN 2015 IN KINGSTON, JAMAICA.

Supporting visual arts as a positive means of expression and of personal development

InPulse is an ongoing programme undertaken in 2015 by Rubis Mécénat in partnership with Rubis Energy Jamaica at the heart of the Dunoon Park community in East Kingston, Jamaica. It strives to support Jamaican youth and improve the conditions of young adults from local communities through the practice of visual arts as a positive means of expression.

A creative platform and a life skills development programme, InPulse offers visual arts courses led by local and international artists as well as general-purpose educational training. Furthermore, the programme introduces its participants to the art market and to its professionals.

Each year the project awards scholarships to the most promising students to pursue a tertiary education at the Edna Manley College of the Visual and Performing Arts in Kingston.

KINGSTON AND INPULSE

After an initial socio-cultural programme launched in South Africa in 2012, the fund partnered with the Group's Jamaican subsidiary Rubis Energy Jamaica to develop a long-term initiative within the Dunoon Park community in East Kingston, near the subsidiary's headquarters.

Jamaica has a dynamic cultural and artistic scene, but it is also a country where local communities are faced with daily violence linked to criminal gangs and drugs. With a youth unemployment rate of nearly 25%, young people living in Kingston's inner communities are more inclined to drop out of school. This violence is a threat to the young Jamaican generation.

It is in the middle of one of these Kingston communities that Rubis Mécénat chose to implement the InPulse programme, with the goal of helping the young people from different neighbourhoods in the city by allowing them to take part in the workshops offered by the project, in order to acquire life skills and empower themselves through the practice of visual arts.

INPULSE, ONGOING SOCIO-CULTURAL PROGRAMME UNDERTAKEN BY RUBIS MÉCÉNAT

Visual arts as a positive means of expression and of personal development

Within the context of its support to contemporary art, Rubis Mécénat aims to develop lasting social art initiatives with the Group's subsidiaries as a way of getting involved in the local communities and positioning itself as a social and cultural player in addition to the economic role the company plays within the countries.

Three socio-cultural programmes exist today: the photography project Of Soul and Joy, in South Africa (since 2012), the art project InPulse in Jamaica (since 2015) and the social design project Ndao Hanavao, an innovation and creation laboratory for social design in Madagascar (since 2018).

These educational programmes work as creative platforms at the heart of local communities by offering to young people in reintegration workshops led by recognised artists and general educational support so that they can acquire academic and artistic skills.

Rubis Mécénat's commitment creates strong links of solidarity and trust. By going as close as possible towards those that are the furthest away from contemporary art, Rubis Mécénat reaffirms its belief in its educational and societal virtues. It does not only reach out to students, it also encourages the local community to enter into an active discourse around the visual arts.

Through the learning of visual arts, InPulse provides an alternative to the existing official academic programme. It seeks to promote a durable alternative education for the personal development of the local Kingston youth by offering them new perspectives, thus giving them new tools to thrive in an often instable and precarious environment.

Each year the project awards scholarships to the most promising students to pursue a tertiary education at the Edna Manley College of the Visual and Performing Arts in Kingston.

The programme takes place at the Dunoon Technical High School in Dunoon Park, located in East-Kingston. A room dedicated to the practice of visual arts gives the project's participants unlimited access to the necessary resources for learning art, including internet, art supplies, cameras and computers.

The programme benefits around thirty participants yearly in the age of 15 to 30 years old, including Dunoon Technical High School students and early school leavers from neighbouring communities who wish to develop their creativity and deepen their knowledge in the field of art.

Support from the cultural fund Rubis Mécénat, Rubis Energy Jamaica, community endorsement, local collaborations with artists have made the InPulse programme one of the most dynamic initiatives thus far. One anticipates the future achievements of this small group of talented youngsters and their dedicated instructors. With that in mind, we remember those excited students who visited the Jamaica Biennial of 2017. After their experience, I would like to hazard a guess and say that their best is yet to come.

RUBIS MÉCÉNAT RUBIS GROUP ENDOWMENT FUND FOR COMMITTED SOCIAL AND ARTISTIC PROJECTS INPULSE FOUNDER

Since 2011, Rubis Mécénat, the Rubis group's endowment fund, has been promoting artistic creation throughout the countries where the Group operates. The fund develops long-term social art initiatives by establishing educational artistic programmes based on the visual arts and design for young adults from disadvantaged communities in some of the countries where the Rubis is active. At the same time, it supports artists in France and abroad by commissioning works for specific places as well as for the Group's industrial sites, in collaboration with cultural institutions. For each commission, Rubis Mécénat helps to produce the art work and accompanies the artist throughout the artistic process. The fund also supports the artist in a longer term by purchasing art works and editing publications and artist videos.

* Today, Rubis Mécénat undertakes three socio-cultural programmes: Of Soul and Joy, a photographic project in South Africa (since 2012), InPulse, a creative platform for visual arts in Jamaica (since 2015), and Ndao Hanavao, an innovation laboratory for social design in Madagascar (since 2018).
